

CANINE ACUPRESSURE : SPLEEN MERIDIAN

● EARTH ELEMENT
STOMACH, SPLEEN

© 2016 NWSAM

| Acupoint | Location | Uses |
|-----------------|--|---|
| SP 1 | on the medial aspect of the 2nd digit of the hind foot at the nail bed. If the dog has a hind dew claw this point is located on it. | lack of appetite, bloating, chronic diarrhea, blood in stool, calms the mind (spirit), depression, hyper or manic behavior. |
| SP 3 | just proximal to the metatarsophalangeal joint on the medial side of the 2nd metatarsal bone. | any Spleen disorder (digestive issues, diarrhea, constipation, obesity, etc.), worry, trouble retaining lessons or trouble focusing. |
| SP 6 | 3 cun above the proximal tip of the medial malleolus, on the caudal border of the tibia. Opposite GB 39. | fatigue, urinary tract disorders, endometriosis, uterine infections, infertility, diarrhea, hind limb paralysis, abnormal cycling, chronic worry. |
| SP 9 | in a depression between the distal border of the medial condyle of the tibia and the gastrocnemius muscle. | edema, diarrhea, stifle pain, urinary incontinence. |
| SP 10 | with the stifle flexed, 2 cun proximal and medial (diagonally) to the patella, in a depression just cranial to the sartorius muscle. | fever, edema, diarrhea, incontinence, heat toxin, irregular heat cycles, stifle pain and arthritis. |
| SP 13 | 0.5 cun cranioventral to the tuber coxae. | abdominal pain, hip dysplasia, hernia. |
| SP 20 | in the 4th intercostal space at the level of the elbow. | cough. |
| SP 21 | at the 6 th intercostal space at the level of the shoulder joint or slightly higher. | pain in the body, digestive disorders, Wei syndrome. |